HE WEPT AT HIS ELECTION.

THE NEW PRESIDENT OF PRANCE OVERCOME BY EMOTION.

Be Left Versailler Immediately After the Election and Escorted by Soldiers Went to Paris—When He Appeared Officers Withdrew the Crape From Their Swords. Versailles, June 27.—The electoral longress called to elect a president of the French republic to succeed the late President Carnot, began its session In the palace here at 1:10 o'clock this afternoon, M. Challemel-Lacour, presifient of the senate, presiding. The great hall of the palace was crowded, and the galleries were thronged with spectators. Nearly all the members of the diplomatic corps were present

among the latter. M. Challemel-Lacour, ofter a sympathetic reference to the late President Carnot, read the articles of the constitution relative to the election of a president, and then declared the assembly open. The casting of the first ballot immediately began.

M. Casimir-Perier, president of the chamber of deputies, was elected on the first ballot, receiving 451 votes. The total number of votes cast was 853.

The recount of the ballots left Casimir-Perier's vote unchanged. The votes of the other candidates according the count were: Brisson 195, Dupuy 17, Fever 53, Arago 22.

Scattering votes were cast for Cavalgnac, Loubet, Freycinet, Rocheforte, Toussaint and Flourens.

After Challemel-Lacour had read the form investing Casimir-Perier with the powers of the presidency he made an emotional lit"; speech, and then turning to the " president embraced him heartily. Casimir-Perier wept. He had not mastered his emotion when a delegation of journalists was admitted to congratulate him, but he managed to thank them warmly, adding: "Gentlemen, I belong to you, Discuss me, but never forget France and the republic while doing so."

The socialist demonstration after the flecisive vote, revealed such bitterness and desperation as even the extreme Marxists had rarely displayed before. The altercations did not end with the proceedings of the assembly.

M. Casimir-Perler left Versailles for Paris at 5 o'clock. Premier Dupuy accompanied him. Facing the new president and the premier in the carriage were military commandants of the senate and chamber. In a landau behind the president's carriage were Ministers Leygues and Poincare. The president and his party were escorted by a troop of mounted lancers. As the president was about to drive away some one in the crowd threw a bouque tled with the American colors into his carriage. The president took his departure from Versailles amid the rattle of drums and the bows, smiles and pheers of the crowd, who shouted "vive le president," "vive Casimir-Perier," until the party were out of sight. Troops had been massed at the St.

azare station to receive the new presthe foreign office. When it was learned he would return in a carriage they were marched to Sevres to meet him. The appearance of the city was the same as usual after the news of the election, but for a slight crowding of the boulevards and the streets along the president's route-via Sevres, th Bols de Bolougne, the Arc de Triomphe Champs Elysees. Harrisburg, Pa., June 27.—The delerates to the democratic state convention were rather slow in arriving, and it Stranshan rapped for order. The opera and Quirk. were well filled with enthusiastic spectators. Robert E. Wright was made which was adopted is the following:

We declare that the consistent, courageous and the infexible determination the local management, of a democratic president to maintain the credit of the government terminated a financial panie, restored confidence and composed disturbed values. We the circulation of constitutional money, gold and silver at a parity of value, we are unalt rably opposed to any debasement of the currency or to the depre-ciation of any dollar issued by the govrnment to the people.

We heartily approve the upright and sagacious administration of President leveland, which has fulfilled the oledges of his party and has satisfied the expectation of the people.

We deplore all differences between employer and employe, and we deprecate the resort to force for the settlenent of questions that should be deternined by peaceful arbitrament. We ecognize the right of every citizen to e protected in free enjoyment of his property and of the privilege to work when, for whom and at what wages he will. It is the duty of the state to maintain for him that right. The highways of the commonwealth should be open to all who lawfully traverse them and the path to proper employment should not be obstructed by any unauthorized power.

None the less we condemn the insin2 erity and inconsistency of those who clamor loudly for protection to American industries and yet seek every occasion and lose no opportunity to supplant it with cheap imported pauper la bor. We denounce the hypocrite who oretends zeal for the improvement of the condition of the American workingmen and yet displaces and evicts them for aliens ignorant of our laws and foreign to our institutions. We stand for the rigid enforcement of all the laws of. the commonwealth, enacted to protect the lives and preserve the health of wage-earners and to secure for them prompt and regular payment of their wages in money of undiminished purchasing power.

We reassert the old democratic doctrine of equal rights and religious liberty; we are opposed to all organizations which strike at freedom of conscience; and we declare that no party can justly be deemed national, constitutional or in which is animated by a spirit of politcal proscription or religious intoler-

Cincinnati, June 27.-The boycott on Pullman cars in aid of the shop workers' strike at Ludlow, Ky., which was lifted to-day, was again ordered on this morning. The employes of the Pullman shops held a meeting at Ludlow at 9 o'clock and were address by Superintendent Phelan of the A. R. Two switchmen representing the switchmen's union of Cincinnati, Covington, Newport and Ludlow were present announced that their organization would stand by the strikers and refuse to handle Pullman cars. The switchmen refused to make up Pullman train on the Southern this norning. After the Ludlow conference Phelan and a committee of strikers visited the C. H. & D. yards. On comng out Phelan said the switchmen there to a man were in sympathy with the

THE TRIANGULAR RACE POSTPONED UNTIL 11 A. M. THIS MORNING.

Not Much of a Crowd at the River-There Was a High Wind and a Nasty Sea-The Three Crews-The Yale 'Varsity Crew.

New London, June 27 .- Never, for many years, has so little interest been were the fielding of Doherty and Mc- taken in the races at New London. There seems to be a general impression that Yale has everything her own way, and so but few spectators, outside of house was prettily decorated with flags and bunting, and the upper gaileries Yeager, a new catcher, late of Cincin-crowds, are present. New Londoners nati, and he will officiate in the game are hoping to see a larger crowd in the city tomorrow morning, and also wish for victory for the crimson, in their search for the clusive college green-Pitcher Clune of the St. Bonaventure back. The postponement of the freshcollege team is being negotiated with by men race until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning will probably bring the crowd down in the morning to stay all day, and this will mean many additional shekels to the New London tradesmen. There was not much of a crowd in the river to see the freshman race. All the interest in this seems to depend on the struggle between the Columbia and the Harvard crews for the second place. A majority of the townspeople believe that the blue and white will be a poor second to Yale, and that Harvard will be a close third. A number of excur-sion steamers put out for the starting point, opposite the navy yard, at 5 o'clock. The Block Island, Massachu! setts and Summer Girl carried the largest crowds, The wind had been blowing up the river at a tremendous rate all the day, but at that time slacked up, so that the prospects for the race were good. By the time the excursion boats reached the navy yard the wind began to blow afresh and in a short time kicked up a nasty sea. All the way between the starting flags and the bridge the big white caps could be seen. The water was so bad that a shell could not have gone a mile without being swamped, and after the judges had gone over the course in the steam vacht Helvetia, which acted as judges' boat, they agreed to postpone it until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. At that time the tide will be rising, and the race will be rowed up stream, instead of down. The last two miles of the course, between the bridge and the navy yard will be rowed over. If the weather is poned until Friday. At the quarters of the crew everything is getting on finely. The whole man crew, is a little lame in his back, with the 'varsity have given them confidence and practice which goes a great if the weather is favorable to-morrow it is expected that they will push the record very hard. As long as Yale continues to develop such freshman crews she will remain queen of the Thames.

Columbia has a freshman crew that a type of all those sent up from Nev York—a boat load of wiry, eager boys, who know very little of the fine points of rowing, yet put such life and dash into their work that they win the respect of all, and are apt to surprise eople. The Harvard freshmen are a light erew, who may put up a good race; yet it is hardly expected. The varsity crews went out in the vening into spots sheltered from the wind, and practiced racing starts. That the only work they did today, being taken down the har-bor to see the yacht race in the morning. It will be their last practice before the race tomorrow night. The Yale oarsmen are resting confidently, while the Harvard men are living in the hope of having the luck turn their way, and causing a repetition of the surprise of 1891. There has been no betting in New London on the race, and if any Harvard money is put up it will call for very long odds, A few bets have been made as to the second crew in the freshman race, but beyond this little money is offered.

In the freshmen race Columbia will have the east course, Yale the center, and Harvard the west. It is very probable that a short observation train will be run, as most of the people will be here for the freshmen race, who intended to witness the 'varsity race, owing to the postponement, The Yale and Harvard 'varsities will row in the following order at 5:30 tomorrow afternoon if the water is good. If too rough it will probably be postponed twenty-four hours.

Glasgow, June 27.-The Vigilant and Valkyrie were started for trial trips in the Clyde to-day. The Vigilant was greatly admired by yachtsmen. Her sails drew splendidly. Both boats will go into the dry dock this week to prepare their bottoms for the race at Largs on July 3. The question of time allowance has not ben decided.
